The program's service categories include:

- Policy & Strategic Planning

- Evaluation
- Training & Resources

Mission Statement

The Governor's Grants Program values Kansans living in healthy communities, where they can grow, learn, feel safe, and thrive economically. The Program strives to remove obstacles in Kansas communities, neighborhoods, schools, businesses, and homes to ensure the safety and security of all Kansans. By administering federal and state grants to units of state and local government, Native American tribes, and nonprofit, community and faith-based organizations throughout the state, the program aims to enhance the criminal justice system, improve public safety, and support crime victim services and drug and violence prevention programs throughout Kansas.

Values Statement - The program is dedicated to ensuring a S.A.F.E. Kansas where:

Services are available and accessible in every community;
Accountability for systems, agencies, and services is addressed;
Funding is provided for adequate resources; and Empowerment of individuals is encouraged.

In addition, the Governor's Grants Program staffed the following boards and councils during State Fiscal Year (SFY) 2017:

Kansas Criminal Justice Coordinating Council
Governor's Domestic Violence Fatality Review Board
Governor's Advisory Council on Domestic Violence Training
State Victim Assistance Academy Steering Committee

Kansas Criminal Justice Coordinating Council

The Kansas Criminal Justice Coordinating Council (KCJCC) was created in 1994 by the Kansas Legislature (K.S.A. 74-9501 et seq.) to define and analyze issues and processes in the criminal justice system, identify alternative solutions, and make recommendations for improvement. The KCJCC also directs the development and management of the Kansas Criminal Justice Information System (KCJIS).

The Council provides the oversight of the criminal justice funding available to the state from the U.S. Department of Justice, Office of Justice Programs Bureau of Justice Assistance. The KCJCC is charged with developing a Kansas strategy, prioritizing purpose areas for funding, and determining grant awards. With the Council members' expertise and knowledge, the KCJCC has developed strategies and approaches to prevent, as well as control, violent and drug-related crimes.

KCJCC members are statutorily appointed and consist of the Governor or designee, the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court or designee, the Attorney General or designee, the Secretary of Corrections, the Superintendent of the Highway Patrol, the Commissioner of the Juvenile Justice Authority, and the Director of the Kansas Bureau of Investigation. More information on the KCJCC can be found online at <http://grants.ks.gov/boards-councils-and-initiatives>.

Governor's Domestic Violence Fatality Review Board

In October 2004, former Governor Kathleen Sebelius signed Executive Order 04-11 establishing the 14-member Governor's Domestic Violence Fatality Review Board (FRB). The FRB is charged with reviewing all adult domestic violence-related fatalities in Kansas, describing trends and patterns regarding the facts and circumstances of these fatalities, recommending improvements to prevent future fatalities, and determining if adequate resources and training are in place for those who respond to domestic violence crimes.

Audrey Cress, Kansas Department of Corrections, chairs the FRB. Current FRB members include Joyce Grover, Kansas Coalition Against Sexual & Domestic Violence; Steve Halley, Family Peace Initiative; Paula Taylor, RN, PhD; Rev. David E. Meier, St. Paul's Lutheran Church; Michael Radke, Garden City Police Department; Barry Wilkerson, Riley County Attorney; Diana Schunn, Child Advocacy Center of Sedgwick County; Kelly Shand-Adams, Kansas Law Enforcement Training Center; Kelly Young, KVC; and Molly Baumgardner, Kansas Senator. Advisory members Stephanie Russo; Juliana Carlson, University of Kansas; Dorthy Stucky Halley, Office of Kansas Attorney General Derek Schmidt; Regina Franklin; and Justin Shaw, Kansas City Anti-Violence Project. Debi Holcomb serves as staff for the FRB. More information about the FRB's findings and recommendations can be found online at <http://grants.ks.gov/boards-councils-and-initiatives>.

Federal Improving Criminal Justice Responses (ICJR), formerly know as the Grants to Encourage Arrest Policies and Enforcement of Protection Orders Program

The Governor's Office has partnered with the Kansas Coalition Against Sexual and Domestic Violence, the Kansas Attorney General's Office, the Kansas Office of Judicial Administration, the Kansas Department of Corrections, and many local agencies to form the Governor's Advisory Council on Domestic and Sexual Violence Response. The Council is tasked with updating existing and creating additional comprehensive advanced training curricula for professionals in the criminal justice system who respond to domestic and sexual violence. The purpose of the training project is to infuse Kansas with a consistent, coordinated response to domestic and sexual violence from the time of a 911 call reporting an incident, through the investigation, arrest, prosecution, probation or parole and release of offenders. This training effort is funded through a Federal Improving Criminal Justice Response (ICJR) grant awarded by the U.S. Department of Justice, Office on Violence Against Women. In SFY 2016, a Memorandum of Understanding was established, advisory council members were selected, and staff were put into place to ensure that the project would begin. In SFY 2017 Applications for Training of the Trainer (ToT) were gathered, letters of interest were sent out, and the Advisory Council met to discuss the approval of trainers to send the letters to for recruitment of the ToT. The ToT event was conducted at the Kansas Law Enforcement Center in Hutchinson, KS. In January 2018 ICJR curricula was approved and trainings for 2018 across Kansas were scheduled.

Kansas Academy for Victim Assistance (KAVA)

In 2012, the Governor's Grants Program received a Federal State Victim Assistance Academies (SVAA) grant from the U.S. Department of Justice, Office for Victims of Crime (OVC) to enhance Kansas' existing statewide victim services training (B.A.S.I.K.). This financial and technical support has let to the enhancement of B.A.S.I.K. and transformed it into the Kansas Academy for Victim Assistance (KAVA). KAVA is a statewide training academy committed to the improvement of victim services by enhancing skills of professionals who work with victims of crime. The purpose of the academy is to provide participants with a foundation of knowledge and skills to create a consistent, victim-centered, and trauma-informed response to victims in Kansas.

In SFY 2016, the KAVA committee contracted with an organization to conduct a statewide training and technical assistance needs assessment. The results of this assessment were used to develop a strategic plan for addressing training and technical assistance needs.

In SFY 2017, two KAVAs were held with 65 graduating students from all over Kansas.

Inspiration from the Community

After returning from a visit with her father, a three-year old's behavior concerned her mother. When asked about the behavior, the child told her mother that a family friend had touched her where she did not like. The family came to the CAC where they were supported through the interview and court process, walked through a medical exam with the CAC's partners, and referred for mental health services. The family spent two days at the CAC working through all the details that had to be completed and stated they could not have done so without the CAC's support and guidance.

FEDERAL FAMILY VIOLENCE PREVENTION AND SERVICES ACT (FVPSA) JULY 1, 2016—JUNE 30, 2017

The Federal Family Violence Prevention and Services Act Grant Program (FVPSA) provided $1,194,178 in grant awards to 20 domestic violence programs in Kansas. The U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, Administration for Children and Families provides funding for this grant.

FVPSA funds pay for services for victims of family violence, domestic violence, or dating violence, and their dependents. These services include support group activities for women and children, child care, prevention education in schools and communities, information and referral services, advocacy in obtaining protection from abuse and stalking orders, court accompaniment, outreach into rural counties, etc. One of these priorities is ensuring services are provided 24-hours-a-day, seven-days-a-week and free to domestic violence victims and their children. Many programs provide outreach services in the rural counties. Services range from safe homes, support groups, crisis intervention, court accompaniment, and transportation.

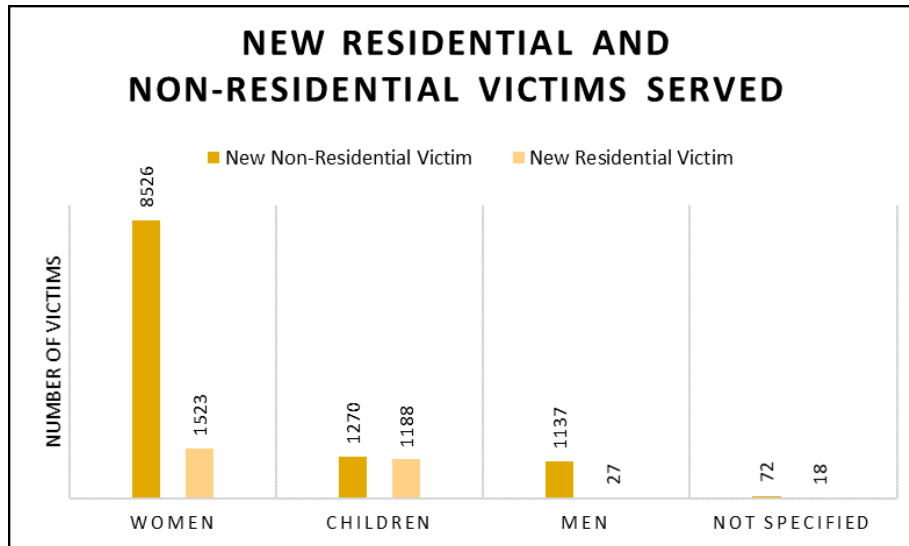

Kansas domestic violence programs make every effort to reach those who are underserved. Many of the programs have volunteers and staff of different ethnic, racial, cultural, and language diversities in order to meet the needs of victims and their children. Shelter facilities are accessible to those who have physical disabilities or an alternative safe shelter is provided. Staff and volunteers in the rural isolated areas provide transportation. Many programs also provide access to toll-free numbers for victims. In addition, Kansas has a toll-free number to assist local programs with AT&T interpreter services, 888-END-ABUSE.

Inspiration from the Community

“Regina” first became aware she was living in a domestic violence relationship after her teenage daughter attended a SAFEHOME presentation at her school. Regina’s daughter approached her with the information she had learned, as well as a list of services SAFEHOME could provide. Regina contacted SAFEHOME's hotline and was screened as a "high lethality" client. She and her children sought refuge in the shelter. While a resident in the shelter, Regina and her children met with members of the Clinical department weekly for ongoing therapy. Furthermore, she utilized the SAFEHOME Legal department to obtain a protection order from her abuser. Regina was forbidden from having access to her family's finances, and most of the time was prohibited from obtaining employment or having knowledge of their financial situation. While in the shelter, both Regina and her daughter began working with economic advocates and attending SAFEHOME's financial literacy course, participating in all the classes offered. They received valuable information on loans, savings, resources, and bank accounts. During this time, Regina opened a bank account, and was accepted into SAFEHOME's Transitional Housing Program.

Upon entering the Transitional Housing Program, Regina and her daughter prioritized saving money and intensely scrutinized their budget to save every last dollar (even going so far as to ensuring their landlord had energy efficient windows to save on utility costs). Regina's Economic Advocate learned of a matched savings scholarship program at another agency, and referred Regina's daughter (who is in college). Regina's daughter was awarded the maximum amount for the scholarship ($4,000) due to her savings and timeliness of the referral. However, Regina's path to self-sufficiency has not been without hardship. A few months ago, the family's car broke down. Due to the information learned at the financial literacy course, Regina shopped around for the best loan available, which happened to be at her own bank. She also made sure to consider gas mileage cost and longevity of the car, and found one that had a high resale value with low fuel usage.

Regina's primary goal throughout the year she was part of the Transitional Housing Program was to save as much money as possible in order to buy her own home. Earlier this year, upon completing the Transitional Housing Program, Regina achieved that goal. For the first time in her life, she purchased her own home. Regina and her family have utilized nearly every service SAFEHOME has to offer, and have learned to appropriately advocate for themselves. They are living a life of self-sufficiency, financial freedom, and non-violence.

A letter from a client to her SAFEHOME therapist:

"Thank you so much for walking through this journey with me. I remember the first time that we met, I asked you if I was in the right place. I didn't feel like I was worthy of services at SAFEHOME since the abuse I experienced was not physical. You assured me that this was the right place, and you shared how control is a form of abuse. I remember the wheel handout you reviewed with me, and how many areas of control I had been subjected to.

"At the beginning of our sessions, I was just beginning the process of divorce. Fast forward a year to today, and I am now in a new home, applying the tools I've learned this year: setting boundaries; acknowledging my strengths; focusing on progress rather than failure; allowing myself self-care; forgiving myself for what I didn't know and releasing guilt and shame for not taking action sooner, and that I did the best I could at that time in my life. I am "finding Regina" and enjoying relationships with friends, family and church again.

"I have had numerous counselors over the span of my 22 years of marriage. SAFEHOME is the only organization that I felt truly connected with what I was experiencing. I feel blessed to have been encouraged, challenged, nurtured and taught by you. While this part of my journey and your own journey takes us down separate paths, I feel equipped to move forward. Thank you for helping me recapture my confidence. I wish you the best. Please know that your work at SAFEHOME has made me better and helped me heal. SAFEHOME is exactly that, and a needed community resource. You have made a difference."

Inspiration from the Community

Janelle* participated in the Freedom to Choose program in 2017 and 2018. Before she started in the program she had struggled with depression and anxiety. She would use alcohol to help cope with the symptoms that resulted from traumatic events in her past. Her fragile mental health and addiction led to her having negative interactions with law enforcement. During the time that she was in the program she also maintained outpatient treatment. She was able to obtain safe housing and is in the process of becoming her own guardian again. In May, Janelle graduated from Thinking for a Change and Aggression Replacement Training and is actively looking for employment. Janelle stated. "The best part of being in the program was learning thinking positively about myself and my future".

FEDERAL EDWARD J. BYRNE MEMORIAL
JUSTICE ASSISTANCE GRANT
PRISON RAPE ELIMINATION ACT REALLOCATION
(JAG PREA)
JANUARY 1, 2017-DECEMBER 31, 2017

The Prison Rape Elimination Act (PREA) provides that a state or territory whose governor does not certify full compliance with the standards is subject to the loss of five percent of any DOJ grant funds that it would otherwise receive for prison purposes, unless the governor submits an assurance that such five percent will be used only for the purpose of enabling the state to achieve and certify full compliance with the standards in future years.

The Edward Byrne Memorial Justice Assistance Grant (JAG) Program is one of the Department of Justice grant programs subject to this requirement. The goals of the FY 2017 PREA Reallocation JAG Program are to continue implementation of the national standards to prevent, detect, and respond to prison rape in order to protect individuals from sexual abuse and sexual harassment in confinement. FY17 PREA Reallocation funds support the Kansas Department of Corrections (KDOC) efforts to implement the national standards. Funds provide technical assistance to five county jails and Youth Residential Centers that house KDOC inmates in assessing preparedness and implementation of PREA standards, as well as to complete the mandatory PREA audits for certification.

FEDERAL NATIONAL CRIMINAL HISTORY IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM (NCHIP) JANUARY 1, 2017-DECEMBER 31, 2017

The Kansas Criminal Justice Coordinating Council (KCJCC) oversees criminal justice federal funding from the Federal National Criminal History Improvement Program (NCHIP). NCHIP is administered by the U.S. Department of Justice, Office of Justice Programs, Bureau of Justice Statistics.

NCHIP continues the U.S. Department of Justice's efforts to build an accurate and useful national system of criminal records. Availability of complete computerized criminal records is vital for criminal investigations, prosecutorial charging, sentencing decisions, correctional supervision and release, and background checks for licensing and purchasing of handguns and applying for child-care positions or other responsibilities involving children, the elderly and the disabled.

During the 2017 grant period, the Kansas Bureau of Investigation (KBI) used the NCHIP award to continue funding positions responsible for the data entry of backlogged dispositions into the KBI's central repository to continue automation of criminal history records, electronic imaging of source documents, and synchronization of databases. The KBI purchased livescan machines for electronic finger and palm prints, that were installed in Kansas jurisdictions that did not have that capability or had outdated technology. In addition, funds are being used to ensure KBI staff attendance at semi-annual conference events to enhance partnerships, increase knowledge, and learn about the most current technology advancements for criminal history record information. The chart below includes only a portion of project expenditures to reflect 2017 activity.

Inspiration from the Community

Client was raped in her bedroom last week and went to the Wellness Center on campus, who then called the SOS helpline. I met her there and she decided she wanted to do a SANE exam, which I accompanied her to. The SANE nurse was unavailable in Emporia so I took her to Topeka. She was amazed that we would do that for her; she had never even heard of SOS.

The next day I accompanied her to meet with law enforcement and we later went to her apartment while the police collected her bed sheets. Going back in her bedroom has been very triggering, so we came up with a plan to completely redo it into a new, safe, welcoming space. She sold her bed and SOS replaced it with a donated mattress, box springs, and frame. Staff put out feelers for donations of comforting art, bedding, journals, and coloring books, which came in from the community. Staff spent about an hour transforming the space with the donations. It was only her second time back in the room but she really did great considering how the first time went.

Earlier in the week we did a session with one staff member on the effects of trauma on the brain and controlled breathing as a way to calm your body during an anxiety attack, so in her room she squeezed her anti-stress putty and practiced her breathing! By the end, she was happier and calmer than I've seen her in a week. I was so proud of her. She's taking her power back and she loves her new room!

Tonight will be her first night staying back at her apartment. She's been staying with a friend and we're taking things one step at a time. This has been a great example of how everyone at SOS works together to provide clients what they need in each step of their journey, whether it be sitting next to their hospital bed during an invasive exam, carrying a new mattress in, teaching controlled breathing techniques, or collecting comforting items to create a new space.

It makes me proud of our work at SOS and proud of how we work together as a team. She is truly a survivor and I don't know where she'd be if SOS had not been there to respond to that call and walk alongside her on this journey.

Inspiration from the Community

We had a case that was referred by DCF because mom had gone to jail and the baby had been taken into foster care. She had her supervised visits through our agency, two times a week, for two hours at a time. The first supervised visit occurred via teleconference with the jail and the Center which is a new service between the Allen County Sheriff's Office and Hope Unlimited. After satisfactorily completing DCF requirements she has graduated to unsupervised visits with her daughter every Saturday and Sunday.

STATE GENERAL FUND (SGF)

JULY 1, 2016-JUNE 30, 2017

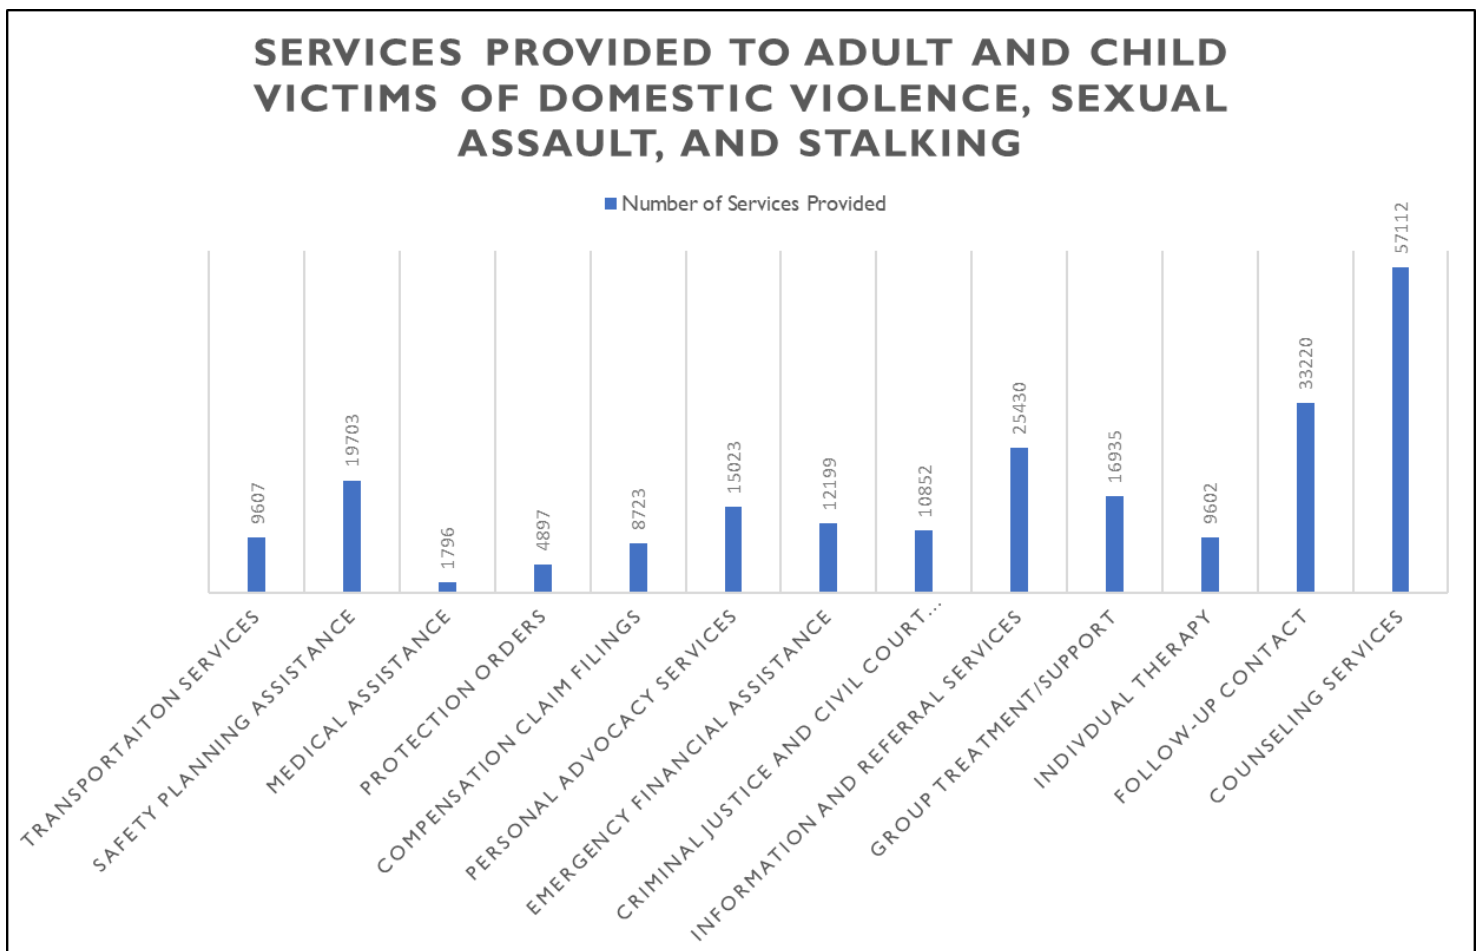

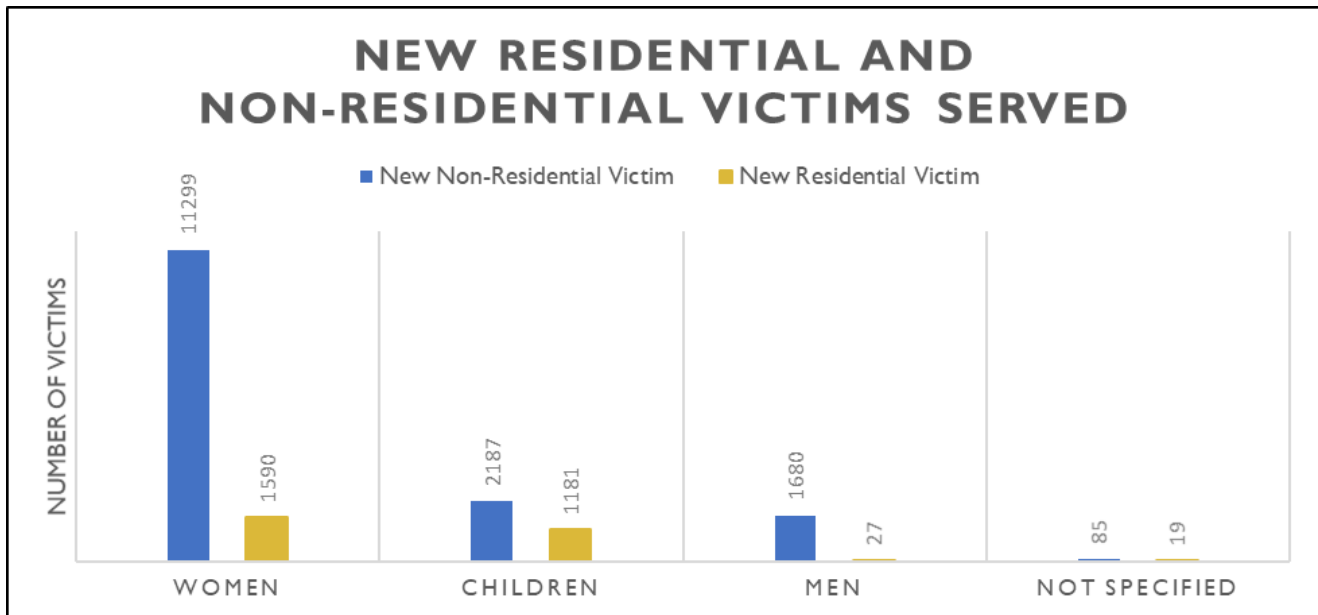

The State General Fund (SGF) provides funds to support services for domestic violence prevention grants. These funds are used as matching funds for federal formula grant requirements to support sexual assault, domestic violence, and stalking services and to enhance services to underserved areas of the state.

Twenty-five grant projects were awarded $4,254,345 to assist in ensuring that funds are available for community-based sexual and domestic violence services. Crime victims and their children are best served when they can maintain jobs, stay in schools, keep family connections and other community ties while receiving safe services. Therefore, services such as safety planning, shelter, advocacy, counseling, etc. should be available within, or close to, every community in Kansas.

Inspiration from the Community

In our domestic violence support group, we provide emotional support and safety services for survivors, including an eighty-three year old survivor. She came into services over three years ago to report her fear of a man she was attempting to break off contact with. This man was a neighbor in which she had been in a dating relationship with for several years. When she started to feel afraid and threatened by him, she attempted to end the relationship. He became violent and destroyed furniture in her home. Her advocate discussed her options and she opted to obtain a protection from abuse order. Her advocate assisted her in obtaining this order. Over the next month's her abuser began to stalk and torment her, he would turn on her outdoor water faucets at night, steal things from her yard and deflate her car tires. She was encouraged and assisted in reporting all these things to law enforcement, however, they were unprovable so no arrest was made. The survivor and advocate were unable to get the judge to approve an extension of the protection order at the end of the year. After the protection order expired the stalking became constant and extreme. The stalker/abuser was seen by neighbors in the survivor's yard at night on several occasions, he sprayed painted on her car "It has just begun", sugar was put in her gas tank, and he threatened to kill her son. The client was assisted once again, by the Family Crisis Center advocate, to obtain a Protection from Stalking Order. This time the survivor reported she knew the abuser had over two hundred guns in his home, this was noted on the order. The local police along with ATF removed over 400 weapons from his home. His behavior continued to escalate and he was arrested several times. The survivor's advocate continued to support and safety plan with the survivor. The survivor was prepared by her advocate to testify in the frequent criminal court hearings in regards to all the court cases the abuser accumulated. He was sentenced and is serving two years on the misdemeanor charges, he is still awaiting trial on his felony stalking charges. The eighty-three year old survivor continues to come to support group and supports others who are attempting to hold their abusers accountable. "If I can do it, so can you." Her story of survival continues.

A mother of 7 young children was kidnapped and abused for several days. Her family filed a missing person's report to no avail. When she eventually escaped, she contacted Harbor House which had previously provided services. But waiting for space for such a large family was too risky. We were able to put this family in a hotel until room space became available, with CAP providing the temporary case management. During this time frame CAP was able to deliver food and toiletries, clothing, make initial arrangements for school safety and transportation, review legal options, and provide ongoing safety planning.

The client had a job that was potentially risky to keep. She had no driver's license or vehicle to transport her large family.

Soon after moving into safehouse services, abuser was able to contact her through a family member. There was a new strangulation incident. She reported to police but was not sent to the ER from the scene. CAP identified symptoms of possible strangulation injury and discussed these risks. With client permission, CAP made arrangements for ER medical assessment and a forensic exam to collect evidence.

This client has accessed multiple HH services since her time in CA, in each service acquiring additional skills to increase her safety.

Currently she is employed, in affordable housing, and working towards her KDL. Her children are all still in the home, showing remarkable resilience. And abuser awaits trial on 7 charges in Sedgwick County Jail.

GENDER OF CRIME VICTIMS SERVED

Inspiration from the Community

In February 2016 LARC DVS hired our first Child Advocate. Upon hiring this individual we contacted our partners and let them know that we had a Child Advocate on staff and would be able to provide individualized services for children of domestic violence, sexual assault and stalking. Within two weeks, our child advocate came into contact with five children that had been sexually assaulted by the youth pastor at their church. These children were from 5-8 in age, at the time.

Through advocacy, forensic interviews with law enforcement, SANE exams and assistance from the school district these victims provided very graphic details of their sexual assaults. When the perpetrator in this case was questioned and not detained he fled to Guatemala, his home country. Through many months of work by law enforcement and the county attorney's office they continued to build a case. They notified the FBI and Federal Marshall's were sent to Guatemala to confirm his whereabouts. The first week of December 2017 the perpetrator was extradited to Seward County jail to await his trial.

During the course of weeks before the pre-trial in February a special prosecutor was assigned. Through many hours of hard work he was able to create a plea agreement for 23 years in prison and ICE will extradite him back to Guatemala once he has served his prison term. During preliminary hearing the perpetrator waived his rights to a preliminary hearing and arraignment was set. At the first arraignment hearing he decided he didn't like the attorney and wanted the judge to provide him a different court appointed attorney. After a short discussion, the judge agreed to continuance of the hearing and allowed him to have more time to discuss the plea agreement with his attorney. After three weeks the second arraignment hearing was held. At this hearing the perpetrator agreed to the original plea agreement. He pled no contest to one count of rape and three counts of indecent liberties with a child.

This case is set for sentencing later in the month of April 2018. Through this process three of the victims continue to seek services from LARC DVS. They are preparing victim impact statements. Without the funding received from the VOCA grant these young victims would not have been able to access services such as those provided by LARC DVS.

A 15 year old youth was placed in DCF custody in May 2016 due to parent's illness/disability or inability to cope. She had come into DCF custody after being in KDOC custody and had lived most of her life with her grandparents who were unable to continue to provide for her due to their ages and health. This youth has a history of substance abuse and an addiction to meth that has resulted in running and human trafficking.

At one point during a run this youth was trafficked, recovered by LEO and through the support of her therapist has been an active participant with the prosecution of three perpetrators. Through a consistent mental health provider that has been able to follow her through 13 placements across the state she is currently over 90 days clean, is enrolled in school, maintaining straight A's, and is involved in prosocial extracurricular activities. She is currently in a home that is looking at making a commitment of permanent custodianship for this youth.
